Whistles for the Deaf. Every deaf person should carry a whistle. If the family make it an invariable rule for someone to appear in answer to the whistle the one afflicted with deafness will be pleased with the result. It will prevent useless calling and save many steps. It has been tried and found most satisfactory.

Spiritual insulation. Many a man, who is now thrilled with the currents of the life of this modern age, freely passing through him, is in danger of moral disaster, through defective spiritual insulation. Are the wires of your ambition well wrapped around with the insulating material of prayer and faith and love? —Zion's Herald.

Tact. Tact is not a gift, but an acquisition, and yet there is something temperamental about it. It is like a singer. Some have voices easily trained, others voices difficult to subdue, some such as are hopelessly rebellious.

Thought He Covered the Ground. A man who was dunned by a book seller for a book delivered some time before returned the bill with this written on it: "I never ordered this book. If I did, I would not send it. If I got it, I paid for it. If I didn't, I won't."

It Was His Deal. A sleepy churchwarden who often played at cards, hearing the minister use the words "shuffle off this mortal coil," started up, rubbed his eyes, and exclaimed, "Hold on! it's my deal!"

Faith and Science. Faith is not hostile to science. Want of faith expresses itself in fears and clamors. A large faith lifts inquiry into those heights where all things are seen in the light of divine unity. —Edward Hungerford.

Sanity and Feet. Two Persian scientists have advanced the idea that the sanest type of men have large feet, while the sanest types of women have small ones.

When Boys Were Girls. "Girl" once meant a young person of either sex, as also did "maid." We still keep something of the meaning when we speak of a young orator making his "maiden speech."

Odd Scotch Custom. On the Scotch borderland it is the custom for a bride and groom to give the young men and boys of the community a football to kick around.

Weight of the Blood. There are 28 pounds of blood in the body of an average grown-up person, and at each pulsation the heart moves ten pounds.

To Keep Balloons Full. Hydrolyth, a hydrate of carbon, is being used for the resupplying of balloons with hydrogen.

Daily Thought. Our lives are truly at an end when we are loved no longer. —Lander.

THE CANDY OF OTHER DAYS.

Before the general use of sugar it is evident that the varieties of sweets, as we understand the term, must have been limited; even when sugar became known its price—according to some authorities, equal to about $7.50 a pound of our money—must have made them the luxury of the wealthy. It is true, however, that there are in use today, though in different combinations, very many of the ancient equivalents for sweets; the various delicacies "an miel et pistache" are only another form of the "honey and nuts or almonds of which earliest records tell us. It is also probable that the candied fruits especially in evidence at this time differ only slightly from the melopepla and dulciana of the Greeks and Romans.

But when sugar came into general use sweets blossomed forth in a thousand varieties. Indeed, "thousand" is scarcely the word, if we are to take the word of the Spanish confectioner in Beaumont and Fletcher's plays, who declared that he could "teach sugar to slip down your throat in a million ways." Other old dramatists give us here and there allusions to the taste for sweets that came in with the time of Elizabeth.

One of the servants of old Capulet begs his comrade to save him a piece of marzipan. There are not wanting authorities to assure us that the "pretty little tiny kick-shaws" that Shallow, Justice of the peace, bade to be brought into the arbor, were a recognized description of sweets. In other writers of the times we meet with constant references to "kissing comfits," and we learn that these were not, as the name might indicate, twisted up in colored paper and called "kisses," such as are still to be found in old-fashioned candy shops in our own country, but that they partook rather of the nature of our aromatic cachous. Even the "sweet potatoes" so affected by Falstaff were not improbably more or less what we now call crystallized, and were eaten much as we eat preserved quinces and apricots.

A packet of sugar was at one time a costly present to make, even to royalty. History tells us of the "comfit-box" that the great Guise missed as he was enticed to his doom.—Harper's Weekly.

COLORS FOR HOUSES.

The safe colors for a house, besides red, are white, gray, yellow and brown. Yellow or gray, with white trimmings, suits many a plain white-roofed or square colonial house. Grays and browns are good for ugly, nondescript ones; the grays always being pleasanter on the yellow shades than on cold blue tones. White suggests the formal type again. It is a very good color for a country house, showing it up from a distance in fascinating glimpses, for it needs trees about it, and flowers to sparkle against its walls. Such a house will be attractive when the leaves are gone from the trees, for the bare boughs will serve to soften the effect.

Diamonds and Carbon. You may purchase equal quantities of carbon for 5 cents or a million dollars. A bargain hunter might invest a nickel and get a package of pure lambblack; the million would secure a blazing diamond, easily turned into lambblack; not so easily—intense heat would be required. However, coal and wood are really more valuable than diamonds—they surrender life-giving heat, while the only use so far discovered for diamonds is to cut glass, and for this carbonadium is a good substitute.

All diamonds in existence could be annihilated without loss to mankind. But then to vaporize diamonds would be costly, as the enormous heat of 12,632 degrees Fahrenheit in the concentration of an electric furnace would be required, and then you might get enough graphite to make a lead pencil or little fine stone polish.

Prairie Dogs Uncover Vein of Coal. Burrowing for their winter homes a few weeks ago prairie dogs on the Vernon McKelvey farm, in Lone Tree, brought up small pieces of coal. This led to an investigation which uncovered an eight foot vein of good coal. As soon as crops are off the McKelvey fields the owner will put down a shaft and expects to open a splendid deposit.

The discovery goes far to prove that valuable coal fields underlie northern Weld county and that the coal mining and the development of the coal areas may be made profitable—Greely, (Col.) Cor.

Clock 300 Years Old Keeping Time. Three hundred years old and still running, keeping as perfect time as the twentieth century clock regulated every thirty minutes from Washington, is the record of a grandfather's clock which is owned by A. R. Simpson of this city. The old timepiece has been in the Simpson family for at least five generations, each owner passing it down with the words always to keep the old antique.

For many years it has run; but a few days ago one of the weights broke, which caused slight repairs to be made the first time in many years.—Saginaw (Mich.) Cor.

Tempus Fugit

The summer days are melting by. The autumn days are drawing nigh. The blasting waves of torrid heat. Will soon give way to snow and sleet. Soon o'er the sky gray clouds will roll—
And still I haven't bought my coal.
Ere soon the sun will southward glide
And chilling blasts will blow outside.
Jack Frost will come along at night
And paint his pictures soft and white.
The leaves will soon be falling fast.
To prove that summertime is past.
Then will I be deep in the hole—
My wages gone and still no coal.

Men Were Loony About Clothes. Old-time cobblestones and mud demanded a thick, clumsy foot, and old Yankee leather was good stuff, all right enough, but it did not agreeably lend itself either to beauty or ease. A paper of 1850 tells of a statesman going to a big ball in velvet breeches, with a scarlet satin coat lining and scarlet bows on his pumps. Men then used to be almost as loony about clothes as women are now.

It's easy for people to make money who don't need it.

WHY WOMEN SUFFER

Many Canfield Women are Learning the Cure.
Women often suffer, not knowing the cause.
Backache, headache, dizziness, nervousness.
Irregular urinary passages, weakness, languor—
A seeming torture of itself.
Together with weakened kidneys.
Strike at the root—get to the cause.
Quickly give the help the kidneys need.
No remedy endorsed like Doan's Kidney Pills.
Here's convincing proof from this locality.
Mrs. John Gartland, 57 Darrow St., Youngstown, Ohio, says: "For several weeks I was bothered by pains in the small of my back. I could not rest well, owing to this trouble and the kidney secretions also annoyed me. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I procured a box and commenced their use. Since then I have had no attacks of backache. Doan's Kidney Pills have convinced me that they live up to representation and I am glad to recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agent for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

ORDINANCE

Section 1. Be it ordained, by the Council of the village of Canfield, state of Ohio, that W. J. Smith, his administrators, executors and assigns, be and hereby are, granted the privilege and invested with the right to supply natural gas to consumers in said village and to use as much of the streets, alleys and other public grounds as the said W. J. Smith and village council shall deem necessary for the purpose of laying pipes to be used for conveying and supplying said natural gas for public and private use together with the right to dig and excavate so much of the streets and alleys except where paved with brick, and public ground as may be deemed necessary for the purpose of laying pipes and other appliances required to convey said gas to consumer thereof in said village subject to conditions following:
Sec. 2. That the pipes to be laid pursuant to this ordinance shall not interfere with the proper drainage of said village by obstructions of any kind and that the village shall not be liable to said W. J. Smith, his administrators, executors or assigns for any damage done by necessary and lawful disturbance of said pipes for the construction of any public works or improvements, that in case the grade of any street or alley or public ground should be changed by the village council, the cost of relaying said pipes shall be borne by the said W. J. Smith or his administrators, executors or assigns and that all streets pavements and sidewalks interfered with shall as soon as practicable, be replaced by the said W. J. Smith, his successors or assigns in as good condition as when first laid.
Sec. 3. That all privileges herein granted shall vest in said W. J. Smith his administrators, executors and assigns for the term of ten (10) years from date of passage of this ordinance unless forfeited as per provisions of Section six (6).
Sec. 4. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its legal publication.
Passed by Council Sept. 11, 1911.
W. J. GEE, Mayor.
S. A. Arnold, Clerk.
